Md Saddam Hossain Khan is an Assistant Professor at the Bangladesh Institute of Bank Management (BIBM), Dhaka. He holds an MBA in Finance & Banking from Jahangirnagar University, Savar, Dhaka, complemented by a BBA in Finance & Banking from the same institution and he is also a Management Science Scholar at the University of Warsaw, Poland, and Lund University, Sweden, under the Erasmus Mundus Scholarship.

His areas of expertise include capital markets and securities regulation, Basel II/III, risk management and stress testing, AML/CFT, financial markets analytics, and the application of artificial intelligence in finance and education. Prior to joining BIBM, he served as Grade 5 Faculty at the academic wing of the BSEC, and earlier as Assistant Professor of Finance at the Bangladesh Army International University of Science & Technology (BAIUST), where he taught undergraduate and graduate-level finance courses. He has published research in journals including Heliyon (Elsevier).